Congratulations on your graduation from the University of Maryland! This milestone should bring great satisfaction to you, your family and friends. It is no small feat. I know that your feelings about your Maryland experience will blossom in the years ahead.

Your time at the university has been filled with new ideas, challenges and opportunities. You have probably discovered that the greatest learning comes from asking the right questions. The hardest questions, of course, have no right answers, but they are important steps toward understanding. You will find this understanding useful in your life ahead.

The university has offered you opportunities to expand your interests and horizons. I hope that you took full advantage of them and that they have opened your eyes and many doors for you. You have made friends and found mentors who will continue to add value to your life in remarkable ways.

As you leave us, I would like you to know how much the faculty and staff respect your accomplishments as scholars, artists, athletes and leaders. You have enriched our university's life and have helped it to climb to higher levels of distinction. We welcome you into the alumni family, a truly special group.

I hope that you will stay connected and take full advantage of the benefits of being an alum. Stay involved with us and help new generations of students develop their futures. You can do this by returning to campus often, starting with Maryland Day 2010, on April 24.

You have my very best wishes for all your future plans. We are proud of each and every one of you. Stay in touch. Go Terps!

Yours sincerely,

C. D. Mote, Jr.

President

Dear graduates,
On behalf of the University of Maryland Alumni Association, I am thrilled to extend heartfelt congratulations upon achieving this academic milestone.

Today, when you reach for your diploma, you will receive a torch—the legacy of excellence that Maryland alumni have carried for more than 150 years. Hold it high, displaying your Terrapin pride for all to see.

It is my hope that in the years to come you will shine your light on your alma mater by sharing your newfound expertise and ideas. In turn, Maryland will continue to educate the country's brightest students, pursue cutting-edge research, explore the arts and defend our athletic titles—we will make you proud to be a Terp.

Along with this commitment, the alumni association is pleased to give you a complimentary one-year association membership as a graduation gift.

Alumni association membership provides instant access to:

- social and professional networking events at the Samuel Riggs IV Alumni Center, your new home address at the university
- health insurance and financial services—tangible benefits designed to ease your transition into life after college
- access to TerpNation, an online social and career network exclusive to Maryland grads
- Terp magazine, connecting alumni with the university

Most importantly, it demonstrates your dedication to Maryland and those who will follow in your footsteps.

Best of luck to you and thank you for displaying your Terp spirit as you take your place in our alumni family. We look forward to seeing you soon at the Riggs Alumni Center.

Sincerely,

Danita D. Nias '81

Assistant Vice President, Alumni Relations and Development

Reginald Dwayne Betts

Reginald Dwayne Betts' "firsts" land on opposite ends of a spectrum. He graduates from college this month as the first from his family to do so—just over a decade after becoming his first felon.

An honor roll student from Suitland, he was convicted of armed carjacking at age 16. Following nine years in a state prison, Betts earned an associate's degree from Prince George's Community College. Then, he says, the University of Maryland took a chance on him and helped him develop his talent as a writer.

"If I had gone to college younger, I wouldn't have cared about it," he says. "You have to engage with professors and are exposed to hundreds if not thousands of students. You have to open your world up."

Now Betts is graduating with a bachelor's degree in English. His memoir, "A Question of Freedom," will be published by Penguin in August.

While at Prince George's, he served in the student government as vice president for academic affairs and Phi Theta Kappa honor society president. He also worked full-time and began leading poetry workshops with students at Hart Middle School in Southeast Washington, D.C.

Writing helped keep him sane, he says. "Poetry is an attempt to say the truest thing in a way that everybody will hear it. From the time I was incarcerated, I wrote my way out of that world."

Two summers ago, Betts received a work-study scholarship for the prestigious Bread Loaf Writers' Conference in Middlebury, Vt., where he worked with Michael Collier, professor of English at Maryland. Shortly after, Betts received a university Transfer Academic Excellence Scholarship. He balanced a full-time academic schedule with work and raising his 17-month-old son with his wife Terese.

Josh Weiner, Maryland associate professor of English, says of Betts' writings, "They are emotionally rich, psychologically intense poems, full of a tough, exquisite music."

Betts has been nominated for a Pushcart Award and recently won the Beatrice Hawley Prize from Alice James Books for a collection of poetry. Additionally, he was awarded a Holden Fellowship—a full tuition scholarship for Warren Wilson College in North Carolina, where he will pursue a master of fine arts in poetry.

Betts is grateful for the opportunities he was given at Maryland and intends to pay it forward. "It's difficult to see, right after trouble, that someone is deserving of an opportunity. People are dying from the lack of opportunity every day," he says. "I'm really blessed."

As a freshman, Phil Hannam wanted the university to broaden its sustainability efforts and start purchasing renewable energy.

To make his case, he co-founded a student group backing clean energy, won widespread campus support for his initiatives and later found his way onto high-level committees where senior staff debated the merits of carbon neutrality. There, he used three years of research as part of a Gemstone Honors team and his calm leadership style to advocate for his grassroots ideas and get them enacted.

Faculty members and administrators praise Hannam and value his opinions, knowledge and thoughtful demeanor.

“It is clear by watching Phil that he is well-studied, he thinks deeply and critically about all discussions, and that truth always supersedes pride,” says Campus Sustainability Coordinator Mark Stewart, who worked with Hannam on the university’s Climate Action Plan Work Group and asked him to help design a lesson on sustainability for current freshmen.

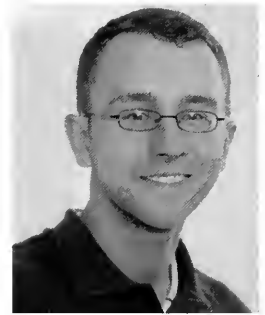

The Laurel, Md. native, who today earns his bachelor’s degree in mechanical engineering, is committed to local and global conservation efforts. In four years, Hannam has traveled to Brazil, Africa, China, Vietnam and Germany—at times as a study abroad participant and others as a volunteer with the university’s Engineers Without Borders chapter.

“My goals of creating a sustainable world do not stop in the fields of West Africa or on the coasts of South America,” Hannam says. “I bring my experiences abroad back ... to create a ripple effect of awareness and action.”

Although his major is science-oriented, Hannam has also taken graduate-level courses in energy policy and hopes for a career with the United Nations’ environmental programs division. He was named one of 62 national Truman Scholars last year, in part for an essay proposing a moratorium on construction of conventional coal-fired power plants.

Hannam’s options for the coming year are still open. He may continue at Maryland and complete a master’s degree with a specialization in energy and policy. But he hopes to win a Chinese government scholarship that will take him there for three years, where he could earn a master’s in energy and resources engineering, and master Mandarin as well.

“I am always moving,” he says. “I’m constantly trying to challenge myself.”

Leon Edward Panetta

Leon Edward Panetta continues his longtime commitment to public service as the 19th director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

President Barack Obama appointed Panetta as director of the CIA on Feb. 13. He leads the agency and manages human intelligence and open source collection programs that support the entire intelligence community.

His commitment to service is extensive. Before joining the CIA, Panetta and his wife Sylvia spent 10 years directing the Leon & Sylvia Panetta Institute for Public Policy, which is based at California State University in Monterey Bay. The institute is a nonpartisan, not-for-profit center that instills in young men and women the values and virtues of public service.

Panetta earned a bachelor of arts degree in political science and a law degree from Santa Clara University in California. He has served as a legislative assistant to U.S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California; special assistant to the secretary of health, education and welfare; director of the U.S. Office for Civil Rights; and executive assistant to former Mayor John Lindsay of New York. Panetta served as an Army intelligence officer from 1964 to 1966 and received the Army Commendation medal. He also spent five years practicing private law.

Before serving as chief of staff to President Bill Clinton from July 1994 to January 1997, Panetta directed the Office of Management and Budget, a position that built upon years of work on the House Budget Committee. He represented California's 16th (now the 17th) Congressional District from 1977 to 1993 and rose to chair the budget committee during his final four years in Congress. In March 2006, Panetta was chosen as a member of the Iraq Study Group, a bipartisan committee established to conduct an independent assessment of the war in Iraq.

Panetta was born in Monterey, Calif., where his Italian immigrant parents operated a restaurant. Later, they purchased a farm in Carmel Valley—a place the Panetta family continues to call home. The Panettas have three sons and five grandchildren.

Professor Xu Guanhua, former minister of science and technology in China, is a renowned scientist in remote sensing and geographical information systems. He has successfully used his expertise in China's renewable natural resources, environment monitoring and evaluation.

Now the highly decorated scientist is working with university President C. D. Mote, Jr. to bring the University of Maryland-China Research Park to fruition on the campus. Its goal is to connect Chinese and Maryland companies for joint ventures in areas of serious interest to both countries, including health and the environment.

In recognition of his many professional accomplishments, Professor Xu receives the Doctor of Public Service degree from the university.

Professor Xu graduated from Beijing Forestry University and studied at Stockholm University, Sweden. He developed the digital image processing system for forestry monitoring and investigation in China, and improved classification techniques and mapping applications for remote images. He is now engaged in organizing and planning of China's global-change research capabilities including the Research Institute for Global Change to be established in Tsinghua University and Beijing Normal University. His research earned him numerous prizes and awards.

His appointments include chairman of the Science, Education, Culture and Sport Committee, the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference; director general and later vice president of the Institute of Remote Sensing Application at the Chinese Academy of Sciences; vice chairman of the State Commission of Science and Technology; and vice minister of the Ministry of Science and Technology.

During his service as minister from 2001 until his retirement in 2007, he oversaw all scientific and technological development in China; promoted its advances worldwide; significantly increased its funding; and in a new national strategy, embraced energy, water resources and environment-related science and technology as top priorities.

From 2004 to 2006, Professor Xu chaired the Committee on Earth Observation Satellites, helping to create the Group on Earth Observations. This intergovernmental collaboration intends to link data on health, ecosystems and agriculture and other major areas to help decision makers, planners and emergency managers around the world.

Professor Xu is an academican of the Chinese Academy of Sciences and the Academy of Sciences for the Third World, a foreign academican for the Royal Academy of Engineering Sciences of Sweden, and an academican of the International Academy of Astronautics.

Maryland's Momentum

Some recent highlights that identify the University of Maryland as a world-class institution with an impact on scientific discovery, education, and the performing and creative arts:

Expanding its reputation as one of the best universities in the nation, Maryland boasted 32 programs in U.S. News & World Report's top 10 rankings in 2008. It was also No. 1 among the top 25 public universities in graduating African Americans, according to Diverse Issues in Higher Education. Kiplinger's Personal Finance ranked Maryland No. 9 among best values in public higher education.

• We draw many of the best and brightest students from Maryland and across the country. Last year, more than 28,000 students applied for 4,000 first-year seats.

• Our faculty regularly earns national and international recognition for its excellence. Maryland currently has three Nobel laureates, seven Pulitzer Prize recipients and more than 40 members of the most prestigious national academies.

• Maryland netted more than $400 million in external research grants in fiscal year 2008, an all-time high. Among them was $12.5 million for a National Science Foundation Physics Frontier Center.

• Great Expectations, The Campaign for Maryland has raised more than $630 million. A priority goal of the $1 billion campaign is to raise more than $250 million for student scholarships.

• The university, with its more than 6,600 trees, was designated an arboretum and botanical garden by the American Public Gardens Association, and was the first campus on Maryland to be recognized as a Tree Campus USA by the Arbor Day Foundation.

• M Square Research Park continued to grow, with the building dedication in April for the Intelligence Advanced Research Projects Activity, the U.S. government's intelligence research headquarters. Other agencies coming to M Square to work with university researchers include the National Oceanic and Administration's new National Weather and Environmental Prediction Center and the Food and Drug Administration.

• Construction forges ahead at the John S. and James K. Knight Hall, the new home of the Phillip Merrill College of Journalism. When complete in January, the $30 million building will be the first "green" building on campus and will feature state-of-the-art classrooms, news laboratory spaces and professional training centers.

A Continuing Commitment to Excellence

From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college and one of America's original land-grant institutions, the University of Maryland has emerged as a public research university of national stature, highly regarded for its broad base of excellence in teaching and research.

Maryland takes full advantage of the unique resources of the nation's capital, attracting top students and faculty, enriching the economic, social and cultural life of the state and engaging the global community to address some of the most critical issues of our day.

Our student body of 25,000 undergraduate students and 10,000 graduate students comes to study with a faculty that ranks among the finest in the nation, with three Nobel laureates, seven Pulitzer Prize winners and scores of Fulbright scholars.

The university also continues to move forward in the quality of our students and the support of our faithful alumni. Freshman admission is increasingly competitive. We received more than 28,000 applications for fewer than 4,000 first-year seats in Fall 2008. Accepted students who complete their academic journey join a rapidly increasing family of alumni who are proud to be called Terps. University of Maryland Alumni Association membership has grown to more than 30,000 dues-paying members since its inception in 1989.

There are 13 schools and colleges within the University of Maryland. Seven of these units—the Smith School of Business, the College of Education, the Clark School of Engineering, the Philip Merrill College of Journalism, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, the College of Information Studies and the School of Public Policy—have been recognized by their peers and in various rankings as among the 25 best in the nation. The breadth of this excellence is a source of pride for students, faculty and staff, and is endorsement for the university's flagship status among the state's institutions of higher education.

The university's location near the center of federal policymaking and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy. Our academic community is addressing today's most pressing scientific and societal challenges, such as climate change, the economy, energy, homeland security and public health. University research brought in more than $400 million in external grants and contracts in fiscal year 2008, including support for a National Science Foundation Physics Frontier Center and an Energy Frontier Center funded by the Department of Energy. As a gateway to the world, the university has established more than 200 educational, research and economic relationships with people and institutions in countries such as China, India, Brazil, Israel and the United Arab Emirates.

The Maryland Technology Enterprise Institute, or Mtech; the University of Maryland Small Business Development Network; and the Dingman Center for Entrepreneurship nurture a culture of thriving entrepreneurship at the university. They are leading efforts to educate and assist business start-ups, create technology ventures and connect Maryland companies with university resources to help them succeed.

Through its Office of Technology Commercialization, the university has secured more than 300 U.S. patents, licensed more than 900 technologies and helped to create more than 50 high-tech start-up companies.

Among them are award-winning firms that create alternative energy solutions, national security tools, and data systems to protect against Internet viruses. Companies served by Mtech sold $19.7 billion in goods and services over the last 25 years, more than 200 times the state's financial support.

Maryland is one of the research universities in the prestigious 61-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

History

The University of Maryland was founded in 1807 in Baltimore as a faculty-owned College of Medicine. The medical school was considered one of the top schools in the country, attracting notable professors and lecturers from throughout the world. In its beginning, tuition cost $140, grades were sent home weekly to parents, and students could obtain room and board for $300 annually.

Five years later, the growing institution was renamed the University of Maryland. Despite the name, the university was not considered a state institution, as it was still owned and operated by faculty. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world, became a part of the university in 1840, awarding the country's first Doctor of Dental Surgery degree in 1841.

In 1859, the Maryland Agricultural College, which would evolve into the University of Maryland, College Park, was opened under a charter secured by a group of Maryland planters in 1856. In addition to spending one hour each day hoeing or plowing on the college farm, students took a broad range of courses in ancient and modern languages, natural sciences, English and mathematics. After a disastrous fire on campus in 1912, the state acquired the college and rebuilt it.

In 1920, the state legislature combined the College Park institution with the professional schools in Baltimore to form an expanded University of Maryland. The entity eventually grew to include campuses in Baltimore County, on the Eastern Shore and at University College, a continuing education institution.

The following decades saw the increasing growth of student population, excellence in programs and curricula, and the burgeoning of the University of Maryland, College Park into a nationally recognized research institution.

July 1, 1988, marked the dawn of a new era in higher education in the state of Maryland, as the five components of the university were merged with six other state universities and colleges to form the University System of Maryland, and College Park secured its flagship status with a mandate to become one of the preeminent research universities in the nation.

The Alumni Association

With alumni clubs from Miami to Taipei, Taiwan, the alumni association strives to keep and strengthen ties between the university and its graduates.

Member events such as pre-game parties, bull roasts, picnics, golf tournaments, dinner cruises and subscriptions to #Terp# magazine help keep alumni connected to the university and each other. All graduating seniors and successful master's and doctoral candidates receive a one-year free membership in the Maryland Alumni Association.

The Alumni

The alumni association's Hall of Fame honors university graduates who have brought honor to their alma mater through distinguished careers in a variety of disciplines. The following 51 individuals have shown the world what it means to be a Terp.

The Hall of Fame induction ceremony takes place once every five years, with the last group of honorees inducted in June 2005.

Golden Terps

As a new spring tradition, the university will honor 50-year alumni by including them in the commencement ceremony. Wearing gold robes trimmed in black and black tams, they will follow the student marshals in the processional.

This year's honorees:

Vernon M. Briggs Jr.

Stuart M. Fedder

Robert E. Moreland

Gladys Potter

David R. Reznick

Customs of Commencement

Early commencement ceremonies at the University of Maryland were marked with great fanfare and celebration. The faculty gave huge banquets for the graduates the night before the event. The following morning, crowds gathered to watch the young graduates parade. It was a gala social occasion, attracting not only friends and relatives, but also the fashionable elite of the day. At the ceremony, prayers were recited, speeches were made, and honorary degrees were awarded to distinguished figures from across the country. Finally, as the audience cheered and threw flowers, the graduates came forward to collect their Latin-inscribed degrees.

Academic Costume

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession have been the traditional costume of scholars since the Middle Ages. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was similar to that of a cleric. Caps and gowns were probably worn to keep students warm in unheated buildings. Many medieval scholars were tonsured, like monks, and hoods served to cover their shaved heads until the skullcap later took its place.

Even after the Civil War, most students at American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black. Colors on the trim of the gown were also standardized to indicate the scholar's academic discipline.

A list of department colors follows: Agriculture: Maize

Arts, Letters, Humanities: White

Business Administration,

Commercial Science: Drab

Dentistry: Lilac

Economics: Copper

Education: Light Blue

Engineering: Orange

Fine Arts, Architecture: Brown

Forestry: Russet

Home Economics: Maroon

Journalism: Crimson

Law: Purple

Library Science: Lemon

Medicine: Green

Music: Pink

Nursing: Apricot

Oratory: Speech: Silver Gray
 Pharmacy: Olive
 Physical Education: Sage Green
 Philanthropy: Rose
 Philosophy: Dark Blue
 Public Administration, Foreign Service: Peacock Blue
 Public Health: Salmon
 Science: Golden Yellow
 Social Work: Citron
 Theology and Divinity: Scarlet
 Veterinary Sciences: Gray

The tassel may also be colored to represent an academic discipline or it may be black. Officially, the tassel is permitted "to lie where it will" on the mortarboard. However, numerous institutions have adopted the practice of having degree candidates wear the tassel on the right front side at the start of the commencement ceremony and then shift them to the left side after degrees are awarded.

Student Marshals

Elected through a nomination process, student marshals are senior leaders who play an important role in the graduation ceremony. Student marshals assist in organizing the thousands of graduates, leading them smoothly through the commencement procession. They also supply extra caps and hoods, and bobby pins to keep headwear secure. Spring 2009 marshals are listed on page 102 of this booklet.

Senior Gift

This year's gift is the renovation of the Morrill Quad (in the center of Morrill, Tydings, LeFrak, Tahaferro and Shoemaker halls). In front of Morrill Hall, the campus' oldest building, is the site of the original campus quadrangle; it is being redeveloped to help preserve the history of the University of Maryland. The Class of 2008-2009 has chosen to honor one of our campus' oldest traditions.

If you would like to be a part of this tradition of philanthropy by donating to the senior class gift, visit www.seniors.umd.edu or call 301.314.GRAD for more information.

Academic Degrees

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. The University of Maryland offers 99 bachelor's degrees, 108 master's degrees and 85 doctoral degrees.

The Doctoral Degree

The doctoral degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the practitioner's degree and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally Doctor of Medicine, Juris Doctor, Doctor of Pharmacy and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. These degrees do not involve the completion of original research by the student. The University of Maryland, at the professional school in Baltimore, awarded the first two dental degrees ever on March 9, 1841.

The University of Maryland conveys the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine degree to approximately 90 students each year in a program that was instituted in 1980. Graduates receive a diploma containing the seals of both the University of Maryland and its partner institution, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

The second type is the research doctorate representing prolonged periods of advanced study. A dissertation that usually accompanies the study is intended to contribute substantially to the body of knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States in 1861 by Yale University. The University of Maryland awarded a Ph.D. for the first time in 1920.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree is an academic honor bestowed upon students who have successfully completed work beyond the baccalaureate.

A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. In 1920, the University of Maryland awarded its first Master of Arts and Master of Science degrees in fields other than agriculture.

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree represents the completion of a four-year course of college-level study and is the oldest academic degree awarded by American institutions of higher learning. It was first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College. Maryland Agriculture College, which later became the University of Maryland, College Park, awarded its first Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science in 1862.

Bachelor's degree candidates who have qualified for scholarship honors upon graduation are designated by appropriate symbols adjacent to their names within the alphabetical listing of colleges or schools.

To be eligible for consideration for such honors a candidate must meet the following general criteria: (1) have completed at least two years of work at the University of Maryland (60 semester hours, 30 of which were earned at the College Park campus) and (2) have a scholastic average of a "B" (grade point average of 3.0) or higher in the University of Maryland work prior to the last semester of registration before the awarding of a degree.

Degree candidates who have met these criteria are shown in the listings as qualifying, upon graduation, for the designators Summa cum Laude (if they ranked in the top 2 percent of the candidates in their respective colleges or schools), Magna cum Laude (if in the next 3 percent), or cum Laude (if in the next 5 percent) based on the grade point averages of students in the preceding three graduating classes of their degree-granting unit.

The May 2009 class roster comprises degree candidates from the graduate and undergraduate programs at the University of Maryland, College Park. As final action cannot always be taken for candidates by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The university reserves the right to withdraw or add names. Diplomas (for other than doctoral degrees) will be mailed by the Office of Records and Registration.

The University of Maryland strives to provide students with the best educational experience imaginable.

Providing a wide range of enrichment and living and learning programs that cultivate intellectual excellence, it helps students realize their greatest dreams and their full potential. By working with renowned scholars and learning about the world in which they live, students are equipped with the tools to make them influential additions to the community.

Beyond the Classroom

Beyond the Classroom, an academic notation program in the Office of Undergraduate Studies, equips students with leadership skills to contribute to civic engagement and social change in a global context.

CIVICUS

CIVICUS, an academic citation program within the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, is centered around citizenship, leadership, and community building in a diverse society, scholarship and community service learning. Associates are wearing a silver medallion on a blue ribbon.

College Park Scholars

College Park Scholars is a community of 12 special living and learning programs for academically talented first- and second-year students. Graduating seniors receive an academic citation. Scholars are wearing a medallion on a gold ribbon.

EcoHouse

EcoHouse is sponsored by the College of Agriculture and Natural Resources. It is a one-year, living and learning program for students enrolled in all programs and majors who are interested in exploring sustainable lifestyles and multidisciplinary discussion.

Gemstone

Gemstone, within the A. James Clark School of Engineering, is a multidisciplinary four-year research citation program for undergraduate honors students. Faculty and staff guide teams of students in conducting significant research, often but not exclusively exploring the interdependence of science and technology. Graduates are wearing a bronze medallion on a red ribbon.

Global Communities

Global Communities' students, under the Office of International Programs, earn a transcript notation of Global Competency through scholarship in the areas of intercultural communication, global issues and international research or service learning. Scholars are wearing a symbolic globe medallion on a light-blue ribbon.

Hinman CEOs

Hinman CEOs, the nation's first living and learning entrepreneurship program, is a citation program placing entrepreneurially minded students from all academic disciplines in a unique community to explore new ventures. Hinman CEOs are wearing a gold medallion on a red ribbon.

Jiménez-Porter

The Jiménez-Porter Writers' House provides a community for students with an interest in creative writing. The program is one of the few nationwide where students can focus on their creative writing production at the undergraduate level. Scholars are wearing a gold medallion.

Merrill Scholars

Philip Merrill Presidential Scholars were nominated by the colleges and represent the university's most successful seniors. The program also honors the university faculty member and K-12 teacher named by each student for their mentorship. Scholars are wearing red braids on their robes.

University Honors

Students who have earned the University Honors citation may wear red and gold braided cords over their academic gowns.

The Senior Marshal Program began in 1991 as an opportunity to acknowledge outstanding seniors at their commencement. Students selected were nominated by faculty and staff for their outstanding accomplishments and contributions to the university. The Senior Council joins the university in congratulating these remarkable students. We wish them, and all graduates, much success.
